MURDERER TAKEN RE

POLICE OFFICERS TEW AND WARD APPREHEND NEGRO WANTED IN WILMINGTON.

There was some little excitement around the postoffice shortly after 9 o'clock this morning when officers Tew and High Ward, who had been in secret watch and waiting for the expected "call," adroitly handcuffed a negro at the General Delivery window, while waiting for the delivery clerk to look over the letters for "Cornelius McNeill," the name he had just called in the hearing of the secreted and alert officers.

The following item in today's Wilmington Star explains the incident:

"Chief of Police Williams has received information that Cornelius McNeill, colored, wanted in Wilmington on a charge of killing Robert Reaves, also colored, a few nights ago, is in Goldsboro. This was learned through a letter received in this city by a friend of McNeill, who requested that $15 he had in a local bank be sent to him. 'Chief Williams telegraphed the Goldsboro authorities last night to arrest McNeill and also wrote them a letter, but nothing had been heard from them at a late hour.'"

The plan of capture laid by our officers was adroit and effective, and went through without a hitch. McNeill was safely handcuffed before he was aware even of the officers' presence and is now in jail here awaiting the arrival of an officer from Wilmington.

CASTEX & CO.

Millinery Opening This Morning A Real Society Event.

As usual, the weather today was propitious for the opening in Spring Millinery and Dress Goods at M. E. Castex & Company's popular store, and the occasion was a real society event.

The femininity of the city were out in full force and everybody was delighted with the showing of the season's prevailing fancies—too numerous to enumerate and too deftly wrought to be depicted in cold type.

You must see this display in order to appreciate just what this firm is offering. It will be open again tomorrow in all its attractiveness.

WOMANS CLUB.

Important Meeting Tomorrow Afternoon.

There will be a very important meeting of the Womens Club tomorrow afternoon in the Club Room at 4:30.

It is urged that all the club members attend this meeting, as delegates will be elected for the Federation Convention, and the final plans discussed for the entertainment of the Federation Convention, which convenes in this city May 4th.

The Executive Board will meet at 4 o'clock, in advance of the club meeting.

ELM STREET REVIVAL.

Continued interest and power mark the services being held in Elm Street M. E. church, where Rev. J. H. McCracken is assisting the pastor in a revival series.

At last night's service eighteen young people assumed the vows of the church and were received into full membership with the church. It was a great service and was unusually well attended for a Monday night's service.

A very gracious and helpful service was held this morning at 10 o'clock. High water mark in attendance and interest is expected to be reached at this evening's service which will begin at 7:30.

Rev. Mr. McCracken is a revivalist of great power and success and his sermons have profoundly impressed the community, and great good has resulted from the meetings.

You are cordially welcomed. Come. PASTOR.

THE NEW LIQUOR LAWS. (Biblical Recorder.)

The legislation enacted by the General Assembly which recently adjourned in Raleigh was not altogether satisfactory to the friends of prohibition. At the same time there is, in our opinion, much reason for gratification. We asked for bread, and got, not a stone, as some good friends think, but half at least, of the loaf we wanted.

The demand for a stringent anti-jug act was heard in both wings of the capitol, the Lower House by an almost unanimous vote acceding to the wishes of the people, and the Upper House reviewing and revising the act with much care, the entire Assembly then adopting it in final form with a decisive majority. Few were the crumbs of comfort thrown to the vanquished liquorites in North Carolina.

And not only was an honest effort made to improve the law, but it was done without the delay incident to a popular election. We believe the people would have spoken again as they did in 1908 and with their own hands would have driven the nefarious traffic entirely from our borders. But it was unnecessary to go to the expense and worry of an election. The legislature saw this, and to its credit enacted a law that becomes effective April 1, 1915.

The law now on the statute books is not prohibitive, as we wished, but it is severely restrictive, and we expect it to vastly improve present conditions. It allows no man to use any other name than his own, permits him to order only a quart of liquor at a time, requires that this amount be contained in a single vessel, and forbids an order oftener than once every fifteen days. Also not more than five gallons of beer may be ordered every fifteen days. Hotel bar-rooms and drug-store saloons are put under the ban of the law. Under these conditions "blind tigers" cannot do the business they have been doing lately.

Another act passed by the late General Assembly authorizes and directs sheriffs and other officers to seize and sell vehicles of all kinds used in carrying, selling, or removing intoxicating liquors for any unlawful purpose. The proceeds of such sales, after deducting reasonable expenses, are to be applied to the credit of the public school fund of the county in which the seizure is made. This is pretty strong medicine for itinerant whiskey dealers.

Again, the legislature put a stumbling-block in the way of blockaders by passing a bill to forbid the manufacture and sale of malt such as is used in the manufacture of spirituous liquors. In addition all records of shipments are to be open to inspection. A double watch is thus put upon the illicit traffic.

The ideal has not been reached, but we are on higher ground than before. Let us enforce the laws we have, and in due time "go on unto perfection" in the absolute and everlasting prohibition of the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating liquors.

MIXING NAMES.

Local Elks are having a lot of fun with a member of their lodge, a fifteenth street jeweler, says the Denver Post. The other day his wife was in the jewelry store when the 'phone rang. She answered it. "I want to speak to Mr. H—," said a woman's voice.

"Who is this?" demanded the jeweler's wife.

"Elizabeth."

"Well, Elizabeth, this is his wife. Now, madam, what do you want?"

"I want to speak to Mr. H—."

"You'll talk to me."

"Please let me speak to Mr. H—."

The jeweler's wife grew angry.

"Look here, young lady," she said, "who are you that calls my husband and insists on talking to him?"

"I'm the telephone operator at Elizabeth," came the reply.

And now the Elks take turns calling the jeweler up and telling him it's Elizabeth.

WHY WOMEN SHOULD VOTE

(From speech of Hon. John W. Abercrombie, of Alabama, in House of Representatives.)

Women should have the ballot, because they are qualified and many desire it; because they are required to pay taxes and obey the laws; because they suffer from bad government; because they know the needs of women and children; because they would be the better able to serve the public welfare; because about 8,000,000 women are engaged in gainful occupations, and their health, as well as that of future citizens, is endangered frequently by evil working conditions which can be remedied only through legislation; because governments derive their just powers from the consent of governed.

According to our theory of government the people are the rulers. This should be true in practice as well as theory.

All who bear the burdens of government should, so far as they are capacitated, share in its privileges.

We can never have an ideal democracy so long as half of the people who are qualified for suffrage are irresponsible and inadequately protected.

INCOME TAX CAMPAIGN WILL BE REORGANIZED.

Secretary McAdoo and Commissioner Osborn Will Try to Get Better Results in 1915 Than in 1914.

Washington, March 22.—Secretary McAdoo and Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborn have decided on partial reorganization of their investigation force in planning for the 1915 income tax collecting campaign. Some twenty special agents appointed last year have received suggestions that they resign to make way for trained accountants, fitted to handle the books of corporations subject to the tax.

A number of these agents have already resigned, but it is said there have been objections to the department's action by members of Congress who recommended the appointments. Officials are still at sea as to how much to expect under the tax law for the year 1915. Secretary McAdoo has figured upon $80,000,000.

Upon an accurate estimate which may be made in May, probably will depend the Secretary's decision on whether an issue of Panama Canal bonds will be necessary to meet the prospective treasury deficit.
